How to Show a Girl a Great Time on Only Ten Dollars

Yes, it is really possible to take a girl out on a date she will really enjoy for only ten dollars.

First men must look good, which means no old and faded clothing. But the clothing must not be new either. Also do not wear any jewelry, because it will give her the impression that you have an outstanding bank account. If she were to find out you have a lot of money, she may go into gold digger mode or even worse platinum digger mode. So dress casually and in something you will be comfortable most of the day.

Once you are dressed and you have picked her up, take her to the park or to a lonely area on the beach, wherever you're closest to or which ever you like the most. And don't forget a blanket to lay on. Once you are there explain why you took her there, this is where you'll say "I brought you here so we can be alone to talk and get to know each other better." You will stay at that area talking until the appropriate time.

The appropriate time is when your mom is serving lunch or dinner, depending on the time of day. Once there you will also have to explain why you took her there, this is where you say "we came to my parents house because I'm really close to my parents and I think it would be nice if you met them." Not only will she get to know you a little better, but you will also get a free meal. Here you will stay a while, after eating, or you will make your game plan too obvious. Stay and talk try to get both you parents and your date to get along and have a good time. Be the one to break the ice, don't be shy or timid. Then leave your parents house at the appropriate time.

The time of day determines what time you will leave your parents house. If you were there for lunch you will leave around four thirty or five. From there you will go together to rent two movies. Try and let her decide which movies to watch. You will spend five dollars renting the DVDs. If you stayed for dinner, you will leave around eight or eight thirty. Then you will go and rent one movie it's crucial you let her pick the movie. In this situation you will only spend two dollars and fifty cents. Next you will go to the liquor store and you will ask her to stay in the car. You will buy a two-liter-soda, a pack of popcorn, and some protection just in case. This will cost you five dollars. If you stayed at your parents' house for dinner you will notice you still have two dollars and fifty cents, now if you paid attention to her earlier in the day you will know what type of candy she likes and you will use the rest of the money on it.

Before you go back outside and into the car put the protection into your left back pocket where she'll be least likely to see it. From there take her to your place. The rest of the night you're on your own. Remember don't be she shy and approach the rest of the night with confidence. Give her a date she will never forget.
